The Ultimate NLP Master Practitioner 2005-2006

For Business Leadership, Development and Personal Excellence

Third Generation NLP: evolution and revolution with four of the greatest NLP trainers in the world:
Judith Lowe, Charles Faulkner, Judith DeLozier
and special guest Robert Dilts

Why be a Master?

You'll learn advanced, applied, leading-edge NLP — both the 'Classic' and the new, 'Generative' skills and techniques — for success in your personal and business life.

As well as the more well known advanced techniques and processes you'll learn to use the more evolutionary and revolutionary approaches of Systemic NLP — at identity, organisational and social/spiritual levels.

Your world-class line-up of trainers are all innovators in the field who love to share their enthusiasm and wide experience of NLP in action.

It'll be a fun, practical and challenging journey of learning and discovery — in a friendly and encouraging community.

You'll develop and further integrate your Practitioner skills — becoming flexible and competent at conscious and unconscious levels.

You'll actually grow beyond 'technique' and become more fluent, creative and systemic in your leadership and coaching.

Mastery in NLP is about 'having it in the muscle', being spontaneous, and having true integrity, depth and artistry with your skills.

You'll develop yourself- personally and professionally — to new levels of purpose and achievement.

This programme is a total work-out for your 'mind-body'!

Our aim is to sponsor your success and the most full and dynamic expression of your unique, creative self in your world.

You'll get personal attention and skills coaching at every stage of the course.

You'll get extraordinary results. This is a Masters programme developed by people who know what works — and who have decades of practical, applied personal experience with NLP to draw from.

Bring your problems, your difficulties, your stuck and tricky issues — personal and professional — at these more profound levels of learning and knowledge we can offer you some of the most sophisticated, elegant tools and approaches for change and transformation ever developed.

This programme is designed to be practical and relevant... and deeply enjoyable.

“ PPD offers 6 months that can change your life completely: the vast array of experience that the course offers was superb from trainers and assistants alike.

The Programme

1 The Path of Mastery with Judith Lowe 13-16 October 2005

You'll start right away to go beyond Practitioner level in NLP — taking that core 'toolbox', adding new models and techniques, and working at whole new levels of skill and understanding.

You'll discover more about what 'mastery' will mean for you and how to use the 'coaching-modelling' learning loop to accelerate your development and get outstanding results.

2 Exploring Inner Worlds with Charles Faulkner 11-13 November 2005

You'll learn even more about the fundamental organising principles of subjective experience — and how we create change. You'll discover powerful advanced techniques that use submodalities to transform meaning and perception.

Become your own gifted 'interior designer', explore what Charles calls 'perceptual cybernetics' — and think like a genius!

3 The Wisdom of the Body with Judith DeLozier 2-4 December 2005

There is 'information' in the body and 'knowledge' in the muscle. Using 'somatic syntax', you'll learn how to strengthen, integrate and generalise deep level personal resources — creating momentum and wisdom for learning and change.

You'll learn how your 'mind-body' thinks and communicates, processes information and solves problems. You'll learn about the physiology and physicality involved in the NLP techniques and presuppositions and how to express more of yourself in the world.

4 Transforming Beliefs with Judith Lowe 13-15 January 2006

You'll discover how to recognise and explore the structure of beliefs — the generalisations we make that hold our 'maps' together. You can transform limiting beliefs and sensitively update your sense of self, resolving inner conflicts, finding inner peace.

You'll also learn how to surface and work with limiting assumptions in business and coaching contexts and create more possibility and more generative solution-thinking.

It is a wonderful journey, of which certification is just one of the results. The course does exactly what it says on the tin, it is the ULTIMATE master practitioner, thank you. ”

Ben Grassby, Analyst, Higher Education Funding Council England

5 The Artistry of Change — for personal and organisational transformation with special guest Robert Dilts 3-5 March 2006

NLP has always been a field where aesthetics — elegance, congruity and grace — have been in balance with pragmatics — evidence-based results, problem solving, bottom line success, etc.

In this completely new guest seminar from Robert Dilts, you'll discover the hidden powerful principles of 'harmony balance and beauty' in resolving complex problems in practical ways — more astonishing 3rd Generation NLP in action.

6 The Power of Mastery with Judith Lowe 23-26 March 2006

In this final part of our journey together you'll further integrate the experiences and learning from the programme, again adding new material, and opportunities for extending your expertise with NLP.

You'll present your project, participate in some fun activities relating to assessment, learn about trans-cultural competencies and more... including a celebration of your Mastery!

The Modelling Project

You'll create your own unique contribution to the field through a personally chosen NLP project — developed through the programme with guidance and feedback.

Top International Trainers

Judith Lowe has been working with NLP for twenty years — in business and the public sector. She is the Managing Director of PPD Learning Ltd and is the core trainer on the Practitioner and Master Practitioner programmes.

Modelled by others as a gifted trainer, she is deeply committed to providing the very best in NLP and to participating in creating leadership in the field, globally, for quality and standards — and to having NLP make a contribution at the highest levels of human thinking and action.

Her research and knowledge in both personal, psychological issues and wider, social and international ones are reflected in her teaching. Her experience of working with NLP in a broad and diverse range of contexts gives richness, depth and creativity to her approach.

“ Judith had a lightness and a sense of fun that enlivened, amused, engaged and enlightened. Do it! ”

Charles Faulkner is a leading NLP explorer and modeller. His wide ranging interests — including business, media, politics and science — have led to substantial innovations in accelerated learning, decision making, meaningful influence, activating intuition, identity change and organisational design.

He excels at making complex ideas work. Charles pioneered the development of applications of Cognitive Linguistics and Neuroscience to individual and organisational communication and change. His modelling of strategies of futures traders is featured in numerous books — famously, The New Market Wizards.

He is the author of personal transformation programs and business tools including the best selling NLP: The New Technology of Achievement (with Steve Andreas).

“ A rich diversity from the field of NLP at the highest levels. ”

Jenny Nabben, Head of Change Management, Hewlett Packard

Judith DeLozier is an original co-developer of the field in NLP and has made fundamental contributions to the development of many core NLP models and processes.

In her 30 years of training and working with NLP all over the world she has particularly championed ideas that relate to culture, community, personal congruence, trans-cultural skills and more systemic and relational approaches.

Judith's background is originally in anthropology and religious studies and her love of dance (ballet and Congolese) has led her to promote movement and the body as a primary tool in NLP — leading to the creation with Robert Dilts of Somatic Syntax. She is the co-author of Turtles All the Way Down (with John Grinder) and the Encyclopedia of NLP (with Robert Dilts.)

Robert Dilts is one of the field's outstanding NLP trainers. He is possibly the most foremost and prolific developer, author, consultant, innovator and trainer in NLP, at an international level, in the world today.

He has written 25 books in which he shares his pioneering modelling and research on application areas such as visionary leadership, health and well being, presentation skills, dynamic learning, creativity and innovation, strategies of genius, conversational belief change, etc.

Robert works in businesses, with leadership and entrepreneurial issues as well as with the individual 'hero's journey' — applying the deeper principles of systemic change and transformation. His work is at the forefront of achievement in the field and his creative and intellectual contribution immense.

“ Judith DeLozier obviously lives, breathes and practises what she teaches. ”

“ Fascinating material – transformational change is exhilarating, and Robert Dilts is a great presenter... Loved it. ”

What people are saying

Judith Lowe is one of the most vibrant and visionary people I know. She is a superb trainer and brings a special energy and passion into everything she does. Her style incorporates a marvellous balance of confidence, compassion and humour complemented by impressive competence and skill.

As importantly, Judith is committed to the deep principles and core values of NLP. She is one of those rare people that truly 'walks the talk' of NLP and consistently updates her own skills and provides leading edge developments for her students.

I also deeply admire her selfless devotion to her students and community. It is a pleasure to wholeheartedly endorse Judith and her training.

Robert Dilts, March 2005

The PPD Learning NLP Master Practitioner programme gave me the tools, perspective and developing wisdom to understand and address classes of realworld business and interpersonal problems that had previously seemed intractable. A profound, balanced, companionable exploration from the deepest roots to the treetops of NLP — guided with wit and charm by the very best in the business. Fantastic... thanks PPD!
